Dear Gary,

Thnaks for Mantik's interesting and provocative article. Glad to have it. In part it confirms what I published long ago, the probability of a second head shot, and I do welcome that. One thing I wondefed about is could there be any other explanations for the lack of density, like piece of shattered bone dropping from place.

Selections from Whitewash has been printed. When it will be in the stores I do not know. I was sent a few copies. I've ordered more. When I get them I'll be sending copies to those who have helped me. You'll be getting one then.

Hope you all- we'll, have a good year ahead!

Best,

Harold
